

August 2, 1957

Subject: EQ-1806

Dear Sir:

Recently we submitted to you proposals for maintenance services judged to be necessary in connection with certain equipment which you are purchasing from us under the subject contract. Since we must offer similar services to other customers, our contractual arrangements for them with all customers should be identical. While we do not need to know from you at the moment whether you are satisfied with all of the details of our proposal, it would help us considerably if you could advise us even informally that the type of contract we have proposed is acceptable. As you know, we have proposed a fixed price contract with a Form IIB Price Redetermination article in it. Just a phone call would be sufficient.

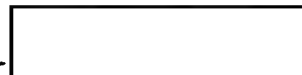

Yours very truly,

Reviewed by phone with Nelt. The subject the name of Form IIB.

25X1A

File -

EQ-1806

Correspondence